

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A rear view mirror for attachment at the top edge of a motorcycle windscreen has right and left mirror portions set about a vertical axis of symmetry at an included angle between the mirror backs of less than one hundred and eighty degrees. The mirrors are attached to a bracket conformed to mount on the concave surface at the top edge of a motorcycle windscreen, with attaching members spaced apart to fit the windscreen at two locations.